MyPillow CEO ordered to pay $5M over 'Prove Mike Wrong' election fraud challenge

by Kaelan Deese, Supreme Court Reporter | ✉ | April 20, 2023 01:16 PM

MyPillow founder Mike Lindell was ordered to pay $5 million to a computer and software expert who succeeded in refuting his data related to 2020 election fraud claims, according to a decision from a private arbitration panel.

Lindell, who has long repeated former President Donald Trump's claims that the 2020 election was "stolen," promised an award to any cybersecurity expert who could disprove his data that alleged in part that Chinese interference caused the election results to favor then-candidate Joe Biden's victory.

Mr. Zeidman performed under the contract. He proved the data Lindell LLC provided, and represented reflected information from the November 2020 election, unequivocally did not reflect November 2020 election data. Failure to pay Mr. Zeidman the $5 million prize was a breach of the contract, entitling him to recover.
